INTRODUCTION

DATE: Wednesday 3rd July 2024

“Beyond Statistics: Humanising Cancer Care for BME Patients and their loved ones”

EVENT DURATION: 10am – 5pm

VENUE: St Mary Conference Centre, 70 Wellesley Road, Croydon, CRO 2AR

ABOUT THE PROJECT:

A conference aiming to address racial disparities within cancer support, raise the voices of marginalised communities and emphasise the importance of equality in healthcare.

THEME:

This conference was led by the 'Can You C Me?' team, a project collaboration between Macmillan Cancer Support and Croydon BME Forum. The conference aimed to address racial disparities within cancer support, an area that requires more attention according to documented evidence.

According to the British Journal of Cancer, Black people are more than a third less likely than White people to be diagnosed with cancer via screening in England. This research highlights stark disparities, showing that Black people are 38% less likely to be diagnosed via screening compared to White people. Cancer rates vary by race and ethnicity, revealing significant discrepancies between different groups. It was imperative for minority ethnic communities to understand these differences and inequalities in cancer. Addressing these disparities not only improves regular screening and early diagnosis but also highlights the need to fill gaps in policy and practice.

While there have been significant strides in cancer diagnosis and treatment, these achievements are not equally distributed. At the Croydon BME Forum, we continue to raise awareness of long-term health conditions, provide appropriate community-led interventions, and champion the voices of those with lived experiences.

Thank you for attending, and we hope to see you at the next conference.

ABOUT THE PROJECT

In November 2022, Macmillan Cancer Support and Croydon BME Forum partnered to deliver a conference in Croydon to explore the disparities in cancer care and support. The event was so well received that it led to the formation of this collaborative initiative. The project aims to improve healthcare outcomes for Black and ethnic minorities affected by cancer across six South West London boroughs: Croydon, Merton, Sutton, Wandsworth, Richmond, and Kingston.

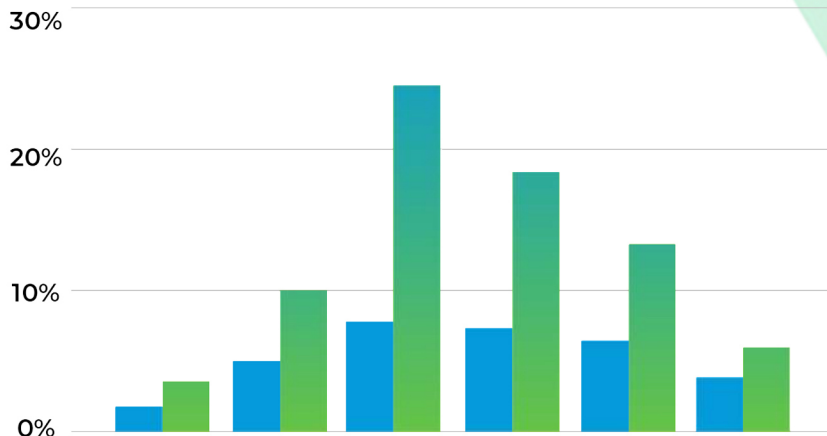

We are a dedicated team of four: Saffron, the project manager, and three coordinators—Zak, Michael, and Nadia—who each oversee initiatives in two boroughs. Our primary goal is to address racial disparities in cancer support, amplify the voices of marginalised communities, and promote equality in cancer healthcare and support services.

We are committed to engaging with key stakeholders, including medical and healthcare staff, community leaders, workers, organisers, advocates, and service providers. By understanding and addressing health inequalities in cancer care for Black and Minority Ethnic (BME) communities, we aim to support organisations in making a significant impact on cancer and community services.

We also aim to upskill and train healthcare professionals and those who serve our community, based on knowledge we obtain from the community directly within our boroughs.

SPEAKERS

NAME: Petrina Kamara
JOB TITLE: Lived Experience

BIO: Petrina Kamara was diagnosed with breast cancer in August 2020 right in the middle of the pandemic. However, the diagnosis did not deter her pursuit to continue their studies while going through cancer treatments, to qualify as a Chartered Surveyor. She has used her experience with cancer to support others either directly and via Macmillan, The Health Show and Prostrate Cancer UK. She has recently started Africa Cancer Support (ACS), an organisation that is committed to demystifying the taboo around cancer in the African Community by raising awareness to minimise the risks of premature death.

NAME: Nicola Delsol
JOB TITLE: Lived Experience

BIO: Since my diagnosis in September 2023, it's inspired me to do more public & inspirational speaking. Having had such an extraordinary journey over the last 10 months, I feel compelled to share my journey of change & to push the message of not to wait for a diagnosis to make changes. I want to raise more awareness of breast cancer in younger people and that it doesn't mean it's a death sentence but rather a time to inspire.

SPEAKERS

NAME: Valerie Betts
JOB TITLE: Lived Experience

BIO: Valerie is a Prison Officer.
My greatest achievement so far apart from giving birth to two beautiful children, is beating breast cancer twice. I First got diagnosed in 1996 and fourteen years after I was diagnosed again for the second time. My greatest aspiration is to help raise awareness of breast cancer and how to stay healthy and positive. For the past Eight years I have been running cancer charity events to raise funds in supporting different cancer organisations.

WORKSHOPS

Session 1	Organisation	Name of Workshop	Paragraph
Lisa-Lyna Ofosu Asare	St George's Hospital	Bowel Cancer and The Screening Programme	During this session we will discuss what bowel cancer is, raise awareness of risk factors and the early signs/symptoms which should prompt someone to book a GP appointment. We will also clarify the screening process, with particular emphasis on how to use a home testing kit.
Malcolm Gill & Ella Newman Greaves	St Christopher's	Anticipatory Loss workshop	This workshop will be focusing on anticipatory loss that can emerge following a cancer diagnosis.
Patricia Williams	Cancer Black Care	Finding Your Joy	This workshop explores the themes of pleasure, desire, and play, focusing on what brings joy, allowing oneself to dream, and the importance of embracing one's inner child to foster creativity. Participants will engage in various exercises, including mirror work and crafting positive affirmations, culminating in an empowerment walk where they display affirming words that resonate with them.

1. Networking with Key Partners: The conference facilitated collaboration among key organisations, including Maudsley, Westminster and Chelsea, St George's, University College London, Croydon University Hospital, ARCC, Kingston Hospital, West Middlesex Hospital, and Maggie's. Dignitaries such as the Mayor of Croydon, local councillors, and trustees of SWL organisations were also in attendance.

2. New Connections: The event established new relationships with organisations like Black Cancer Care, Prostate Cancer UK, and South East Cancer Help Centre.

3. Attendee Demographics: The conference attracted 250 attendees, with an even split of 50% professionals and 50% community members.

4. Positive Feedback: Attendee feedback highlighted that the majority found the conference highly informative and valuable.

5. Emotional Support: On the day, at least 10 individuals received 1:1 emotional support, with follow-up support plans put in place.

6. Post-Conference Impact: The conference significantly raised project awareness across all six boroughs and beyond, with attendees travelling from as far as Watford and High Wycombe.

7. Gaining Knowledge: Many attendees mentioned how they gained a lot of knowledge and insight from the guest speakers and workshops. They appreciated being able to speak to the speakers and healthcare professionals individually and afterwards.

ACTION

1. Increase Networking Time:

Allocate more time at the next conference for networking opportunities between all attendees.

2. Support Follow-Up:

Follow up with attendees who requested support.

3. Partnership Development:

Follow up with stakeholders and professionals to explore partnership opportunities.

4. Website Upgrade: Upgrade our website and direct more traffic through it.

5. Resource Distribution:

Deliver materials to help professionals address health inequalities and amplify the voices of marginalised communities.

6. Upskilling and Training Commitment:

We aim to upskill those who serve our community by tailoring training to community-specific data, aiming to break down barriers and ensure equitable cancer care and support for all.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT AND THANK YOU

Our sincerest thanks to Croydon's Elected Mayor, Jason Perry, for attending the 'Can You C Me?' conference. We deeply appreciate the dedication of the staff, volunteers, and CEO at Croydon BME Forum—without your efforts, this event would not have run so smoothly.

A heartfelt thank you to our lived experience speakers, Nicola, Valerie, Petrina, Farrina, and Adrian, for your courageous participation and for sharing your lived experiences. Your contributions were vital in raising awareness and highlighting the gaps in cancer healthcare and support for Black and minority ethnic communities.

We also extend a special thank you to our professional speakers, stallholders, and workshop facilitators, who helped raise awareness of cancer services and the support available within the community. A big thank you to our hosts, Anthony King and Andrea Tshibangu, for guiding the event with such skill.

A massive thank you to Macmillan Cancer Support for funding this essential 3-year project in partnership with Croydon BME Forum, exemplifying Macmillan's mission to address these gaps in cancer healthcare and support.

Thank you to our supportive community for helping us to publicise and raise awareness of this project and this year's Croydon Cancer Conference. And, of course, our deepest gratitude to all those individuals who have experienced a cancer diagnosis or have lived experience of cancer, for making the sacrifice to attend and support the event.

Lastly, a huge thank you to my 'Can You C Me?' team, Michael Samuel and Zak Miah, for your unwavering support in planning and executing this event from start to finish.

I look forward to seeing you at the next one.
